

Liatrio Principal Consultant Questions :

1. Can you travel up to 2 weeks out of 4 for consulting engagements to either coasts? Are there any constraints we need to know about upfront that will prevent this regularly. (Mon-Thursday on site home every weekend)
2. If everything goes well, how much lead time do you need to join Liatrio and when is the earliest you can join. Also, post joining, do you have any PTO planned out already in the medium term future (6 months)
3. How much time commitment can you provide for the interview process from the first call to final in-person interview.
4. Tell us how you have been involved in end to end software delivery that includes CI/CD, test automation, IaaS, and Cloud
5. Quickly define your familiarity with the following tools including when was the last time you were actually hands on with any of them:
  - Jenkins, Maven, Gulp or Grunt, Selenium, Cucumber, Chef or Puppet or Ansible, Vagrant or Virtualbox, Nexus or Artifactory, AWS or Google or Azure
6. Please define what you believe to be DevOps and what a DevOps transformation at a customer would look like.
7. Now that you have defined a DevOps transformation, how would you execute this at a customer?
8. Have you led a DevOps transformation and if so:
  - Please provide a specific company name/scenario AND a key accomplishment during that project?
  - Why do you think this accomplishment was significant for your client? How about your company?
